INTRODUCTION

By the Chief Gambling Commissioner

I am pleased to present to you my annual report for the period 1 July 2016 to 30 June 2017, the Commission's twelfth full year of operation.

The Commission has a mixture of regulatory, judicial and advisory functions in relation to gambling and the gambling sector. The functions most regularly exercised by the Commission involve determining applications for approval under casino licence conditions, amending casino licence conditions and considering appeals from gaming machine operators against decisions made by the Department of Internal Affairs (the "Department").

In the last year the Commission determined 157 applications to amend casino licence conditions or grant approvals under casino licence conditions, and one Class 4 appeal against a decision made by the Department.

REPORT ON ACTIVITIES

Establishment of the Commission

The Commission was established in March 2004 by section 220 of the Gambling Act 2003 (the “Act”). The Act provides that the Commission shall comprise up to five Commissioners.

The Chief Gambling Commissioner is Graeme Reeves, a barrister and solicitor based in Wellington. Graeme was a Gambling Commissioner from 2004 to December 2010, when he was appointed as the Chief Gambling Commissioner. The other Commissioners are:

- Lisa Hansen, who is a Wellington barrister;
- Russell Bell, who is a chartered accountant and business consultant with a background in corporate risk management and assurance. Russell lives in Whanganui;
- Donna Matahaere-Atariki, who is a consultant and lives in Dunedin;
- Wendie Harvey, who is a professional director and business consultant, and lives in Hawke’s Bay.

Graeme Reeves, Russell Bell and Wendie Harvey have all been appointed until August 2018. Lisa Hansen has been appointed until December 2019, while Donna Matahaere-Atariki has been appointed until June 2020.

The Commission is serviced by an Auckland-based Secretariat.

The duties and functions of the Commission are set out in Appendix 1 to this report.

Casinos

The Commission is responsible for casino licensing, with the Department being responsible for operating and equipment standards, game rules and compliance. Casinos can appeal the Commission’s decisions on licensing matters to the High Court.

In the year ending 30 June 2017, the Commission made 157 decisions on applications to amend licence conditions, or obtain approvals under licence conditions. Applications related mainly to approval of new signage around the casinos, revised floor layouts and new game mixes. This compares with the same number of decisions made last year.

New Zealand has six casinos (new ones being prohibited under the Act), varying considerably in size, as shown below:

Casino	No. of tables	No. of gaming machines	Fully automated gaming machines
Auckland	150	1,877	240
Christchurch	36	500	-
Hamilton	23	339	-
Dunedin	12	180	-
Queenstown (Beach Street)	12	86	-
Queenstown (Steamers Wharf)	6	74	-

SKYCITY is the dominant operator in New Zealand, operating four of the six casinos; one in Auckland, one in Hamilton and two in Queenstown. The Auckland casino is by far the largest, with approval to operate up to 150 table games, 1,877 gaming machines and 240 fully automated table games. The Auckland casino previously operated up to 110 gaming tables and 1,647 gaming machines but can now deploy additional gambling products up to the abovementioned levels pursuant to the New Zealand International Convention Centre Act 2013, which gives effect to the New Zealand International Convention Centre Project and Licensing Agreement between SKYCITY and the Crown.

Decision GC03/17 – Decision on a proposal to amend the 2010 Approval for the provision of Credit by Casino Operators

In this decision, the Commission revoked its previous (2010) approval for the provision of credit in casinos and replaced it with completely revised terms. While the new approval was ultimately the proposal of the Commission, it derived from an amendment proposed by the Department for Internal Affairs following an investigation at the SKYCITY Auckland casino. Previous approvals had been limited to the retention of unbanked cheques but the investigation revealed that the retained cheques were never banked and were often blank or undated. After gathering information on the actual use of credit facilities and comparing the various credit restrictions in Australian jurisdictions, the Commission proposed, and later issued, completely revised conditions of approval. As approval should focus on harm minimisation, rather than the means of recording or repaying credit, approval is no longer limited to cheques. However, credit can now only be provided to short-term overseas visitors (and to operators of overseas junkets), for whom customised monitoring requirements are appropriate. Instead of maximum credit periods, casinos are now required to monitor and report on all increases in credit, extensions in term and failures to repay within 30 days. Finally, new periodic reporting is required, so that the Commission can monitor properly the scale of what it is authorising. The new approval permits the successful operation of casinos' international business under appropriate harm controls.

Appeals to the Commission

The Department exercises primary licensing and enforcement functions in relation to non-casino gambling (gaming machines and large-scale lotteries). As at 30 June 2017, there were 273 licensed Class 4 gambling operators, 1,180 gaming machine venues and 15,858 gaming machines in New Zealand (down from 287, 1,220 and 16,250 respectively in 2016, and down significantly from the 25,221 gaming machines that were in place in June 2003).

Operators have rights of appeal to the Commission against decisions made by the Department in circumstances including loss of licence, enforcement action and in relation to the imposition of licence conditions by the Department.

In the year ending 30 June 2017, the Commission determined one Class 4 appeal and disposed of two appeals against decisions made by the Department. The Commission made one Class 4 decision last year.

An appeal is heard on a de novo basis, meaning that the Commission considers the matter afresh.

Decision GC09/16 – Appeal by New Zealand Racing Board – TAB Kapiti Lights and TAB Mangere Bridge

This appeal arose from an amendment to section 33 of the Act which came into effect on 21 October 2015 without transitional provisions. The amendment, a prohibition on the issue of licences to TAB's in certain circumstances, had been enacted in March 2015 on the assumption that it declared the status quo. However, after it was passed but two months before it came into effect, the Court of Appeal issued a decision to contrary effect. The TAB took advantage of the resulting window of opportunity to seek two new Class 4 licences immediately prior to the prohibition coming into effect. The Secretary for Internal Affairs declined the applications, on the basis that the prohibition had come into effect before the applications had been assessed and decided. On appeal, the Commission set aside the Secretary's decision and directed him to reconsider the applications on the law as it had stood at the time of receipt of the applications.

Decision GC05/17 – Appeal by New Zealand Racing Board – TAB Mangere Bridge

This appeal was against the reconsideration decision which followed the appeal above. On reconsideration, the Secretary declined the application for lack of merit as filed. Subsequent to the application and to the commencement of section 33(3), the applicant provided amended and additional supporting information, none of which was not available at the time of the original application. As the Commission agreed with the Secretary's assessment on the merits of the original application, the issue on the second appeal was whether the Commission should have regard to the later information on appeal, as it is usually required to do, despite the commencement of the new section 33(3) prohibition prior to it becoming available. Applying the Interpretation Act 1999, the Commission held that TAB's appeal rights were unaffected by the amendment to section 33 and that it was required to have regard to the enhanced material when determining the appeal. The decision was reversed accordingly and the Secretary directed to issue the licence.

Miscellaneous

In the year ended 30 June 2017, the Commission completed its review of the Host Responsibility Programmes for the Hamilton, Queenstown, Wharf and Dunedin casinos.

The Commission maintained regular contact with stakeholders throughout the year, including representatives from all six casinos, the Class 4 sector, the Department, the Ministry of Health, researchers and treatment providers. The Commission also met with gambling regulators in Australian jurisdictions and briefed them on the Commission's work.

The Commission continues to keep abreast of relevant gambling issues at both governance and management levels.

Procedures

In exercising its functions, the Commission has wide powers to determine its own procedures, to engage experts and to receive evidence. The policies and procedures developed by the Commission, and the decisions which it makes, are all published on its website.

Appeal proceedings are run along judicial lines. Procedures involve filing of submissions and affidavit evidence by the appellant, submissions and evidence in response by the respondent Secretary, and submissions and evidence in reply from the appellant.

The Commission consults on applications to amend licence conditions with the casino licence holder, the Secretary and affected persons.

The Commission can, and does, obtain independent legal advice in relation to matters under consideration – both casino applications and appeals.

Apart from its decisions, the Commission (mainly through the Commission Secretariat) communicates on an ongoing basis with stakeholders.

Administration

Under the Act, the Commission has no power to acquire, hold or alienate property, or to employ staff. Instead, the Act requires the Department to service the Commission, by arranging the administrative services necessary for the Commission to perform its functions.

The Act also requires the Commission to make decisions independently of the Minister and the Secretary, and to have a stand-alone office. This is located in Auckland.

The Commission is funded from the Department's Vote, but as noted above, is functionally independent. The Commission's annual expenditure is variable, depending upon the volume of applications and appeals before it, and any litigation with which it is involved.

Commission Meetings

The Commission met 11 times during the year under review: 8 July, 5 August, 9 September, 7 October, 4 November and 9 December 2016; and 10 February, 17 March, 12 April, 16 May and 9 June 2017.

The Chief Gambling Commissioner attended meetings of Australasian Gambling Commissioners and Board Members in November 2016 and May 2017.

The Chief Gambling Commissioner, five Commissioners and the Executive Director all attended a conference held by the International Association of Gambling Regulators in Sydney in November 2016.

The Commission co-hosted, with the Department of Internal Affairs, the Australasian Gambling Regulators' Conference held in Auckland in May 2017. The Chief Gambling Commissioner, two Commissioners and the Executive Director attended.

Future Directions

The primary focus of the Commission in 2017/2018 will be the following activities:

- The major piece of work for the Commission will be to address the application from Christchurch Casino Limited ("CCL") to renew its Venue Licence, once it is received. CCL holds the country's first casino premises licence, issued on 30 June 1993 (with an operator's licence being issued to Aspinall on 17 September 1994). CCL commenced operating on 4 November 1994. Section 138 of the Act provides that a casino venue licence expires 25 years after the date that the casino commenced operating, but that the venue licence continues in force until the Gambling Commission decides whether or not to renew that licence. Section 134(2) provides that an application to renew a venue licence must be made in the period "at least one year but not more than two years before the date on which the licence is due to expire." As CCL commenced operating on 4 November 1994, it may submit a renewal application between 4 November 2017 and 4 November 2018. The statutory renewal regime requires a casino impact report, thorough investigation of the suitability and compliance record of the licence holder, and a public hearing. There is provision for receiving the views of the community from local authorities.
- The ongoing effective discharge of its licensing and appeal functions.
- Continue to meet with the sector.
- Review the Host Responsibility Programmes for the Auckland and Christchurch casinos.
- Keep the Minister informed of developments relating to the Commission's functions.

APPENDIX 1

Duties and Functions of the Commission under the Act

The Commission is an independent decision-making body with the powers of a Commission of Inquiry. Its functions are wide-ranging, and include the following:

- specifying, varying and revoking casino licence conditions
- considering and determining applications for casino operators' licences and the renewal of casino venue licences (the first of the existing six venue licences expires in 2019)
- approving agreements and changes to agreements between casino operators and casino venue licence holders
- considering and determining appeals against regulatory and licensing decisions made by the Department in respect of Class 3 and Class 4 gambling. Class 3 gambling involves prizes of more than $5,000, but does not take place at a casino or involve gaming machines. Class 4 gambling relates to non-casino gaming machine operations
- considering and dealing with complaints about the way the Department has handled complaints in relation to Class 4 gambling
- advising the Minister for Internal Affairs on matters relating to the performance of the Commission's functions and the administration of the Act, either at the Minister's request or on its own initiative
- advising Ministers and facilitating consultation on the setting of the problem gambling levy.
