A dark, atmospheric photograph of a forest floor. The foreground is dominated by large, rounded rocks covered in vibrant green moss. To the left, a small tree with green leaves stands near a path of smooth, grey stones. The background is a dense forest of tall, dark trees, with a soft, blueish light filtering through the canopy, creating a misty and ethereal atmosphere.

What was once an ancient riverbed, over time, has become much more. The stones that remain soak up the warmth of the sun and release it at dusk, ripening our grapes to create a crisp and vibrant wine.
