SAM DAVIES

2016 Wales vs Japan

In the past few years, Japan have notched big wins over Samoa, Italy, USA, Canada and South Africa.

Here, it looked like they were heading for another famous result.

That was until replacement Sam Davies stepped up in just his 2nd match. He got thrown the ball in the 80th minute and proceeded to slot the winning points, ensuring songs would sing out through the valleys.

RONAN O'GARA

2009 Ireland vs Wales

With under three minutes remaining and the Grand Slam on the line O'Gara slotted a drop goal to take the scores to 17-15, ending Ireland's 61-year wait for a Grand Slam. The songs of the Irish rang around Cardiff long into the night.

JOEL STRANSKY

1995 World Cup Final South Africa vs New Zealand

“The goal that helped heal a nation”. In the 2nd period of extra time with the scores locked at 12-12, Stransky slotted a drop goal to propel the ‘Boks’ to a famous win. More than just a game of rugby, the scenes after the game involving Francois Pienaar and Nelson Mandela, both wearing the Springbok #6 jersey, brought the country closer together at a time when it was most needed.

ZINZAN BROOKE

1995 World Cup New Zealand vs England

Not sure if we'll see the likes of it again, let alone from a #8 forward.

Zinzan caught the ball near the right hand touch inside his own half.

He let loose with a drop goal from 45m out on the sideline.

A ridiculous goal from a ridiculous talent. The All Blacks looked unbeatable at this World Cup with Jonah Lomu a colossus.

Unfortunately for the ABs, Joel Stransky had other ideas...

JONNY WILKINSON

2003 World Cup Final England vs Australia

With just 26 seconds of overtime left on the clock and the scores locked at 17-17, England marched down field. The ball came back to Wilkinson who slotted the drop goal to win the World Cup. As if it could be any more clutch, he used his wrong (right) foot. Genius.
